

Welcome one and all to the brand new Tigerlily cocktail list, where it's not just about the 'what' but also the 'how' and indeed the 'well I never did'. Over the last few months we've been busy plotting and concocting behind closed doors, dreaming up our very own infusions, tracking down the finest of botanicals and – dare we say it – having a rum old time in the process, pun intended.

The result is this, a veritable cornucopia of brave new flavours and dear old favourites, extravagant mixes and no-nonsense fixes. As ever, if it isn't on the the list, it probably isn't worth trying, but feel free to pop the question nonetheless as our expert movers and shakers behind the bar will be only too happy to oblige.

Let the journey begin...

The House Cocktail — Lily's New Knickers

"Just because you've got a new pair of knickers doesn't mean you forget your old ones!"

Never a truer word has been spoken, especially when it comes to cocktails. Presenting a fresh approach to our ever-popular house cocktail of old. Lose yourself in the fabulous flavours that have come to epitomise this iconic destination.

Stolichnaya vodka, Alizé rose liqueur, pink grapefruit juice, almond syrup, grenadine, topped off with a lemon sherbet foam.

CHUNKY & FUNKY REDS

This is where the most characterful, greatest value reds like to hang out. Not always the best known but always brim full of chunky, dark ripe fruits and masses of personality, these are the Jonny-come-latelys of the wine scene with a lot to prove and more than enough stuffing to justify themselves. These are big wines that pack a real punch... especially The Pugilist!

DeAlto DOCa Rioja – Spain	£23.95
La Multa Old Vine Garnacha, The Flying Scotsman, Calatayud – Spain	£24.95

Bramare Malbec Lujan de Cuyo – Argentina	£62.95

ROSÉ

Forget the days when you only bought rosé to get a nice bottle that you could make into a lampstand, rosé is cool... it's official... even for the guys. Deep, savoury Rosados from Spain, delicate strawberry-laden Pinot Grigio blush or the subtle, classic allure of Sancerre Rosé, there is something for everyone. Don't rely on the elusive Edinburgh sunshine, these wines bring a little sunshine into your life, even on the darkest of days.

Domaine Daulny Sancerre Rosé Loire – France	£39.95

PUDDING WINES

If you can, save a little space for dessert with a cracking wine. Alternatively, skip the dessert and just have the wine! From the tangy, orange-laced Torrontes to the incredibly rich, sticky toffee pudding in a glass that is Gluttony, through to the Sauternes-beating Grandjo, treat your taste buds with these luscious delights.

Zuccardi Reserva Torrontes Tardio Mendoza – Argentina	(50cl) £3.95 (75ml gls) £23.95
Stella Bella Pink Muscat Margaret River – Australia	(37.5cl) £26.95
